

Phytoplankton

I am a diatom (microscopic algae) that floats and drifts with the water currents. I use sunlight, water, and carbon dioxide to build sugar for myself through photosynthesis.

